Visit NC to tell North Carolina's stories, especially the stories focused on its rich equestrian history, annual events and even highlight the state's equine-related businesses. And Visit NC needs your help. Please click [ Visit NC is also working to coordinate a master sponsorship agreement with TIEC for the 2018 FEI WEG. This event falls in Visit NC's 2018-2019 fiscal year so plans are still tentative; the desire is to share parts of the master sponsorship agreement by creating four levels of co-op sponsorships so that partners could participate with Visit NC. Visit NC and partners promote tourism to legislators in D.C.

Visit NC's Wit Tuttell, Greater Raleigh CVB's Dennis Edwards and Visit Charlotte's Mike Butts joined travel leaders from more than 45 states at the US Travel Association's Destination Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C., last week. The event brought travel leaders from across the country to Washington to educate policymakers about the power of travel. The program combined a legislative day on Capitol Hill with advocacy training, guest speakers and peer-to-peer networking. Tuttell, Edwards and Butts presented information to the entire N.C. legislative delegation. Destination Capitol Hill delegates conducted more than 300 congressional meetings during the event.

A previous TRAC in Fayetteville

TRAC coming to Haywood, Madison counties April 11-12

Next month, tourism-related businesses in Haywood and Madison counties - including the surrounding counties - will have an opportunity to work with Visit North Carolina staff to learn about its research, development and marketing services, and discuss best practices in reaching travelers, the media and increasing tourism visitation and spending. Visit North Carolina's Tourism Resource Assistance Center (TRAC) is a community-based training program designed to help small tourism-related businesses. On April 11, TRAC, will be held at Lake Junaluska's Harrell Center Auditorium located at 710 N. Lakeshore Drive in Lake Junaluska. On April 12, TRAC will be held in the Mars Hill University Ferguson Health Sciences Center at 211 Cascade Street in Mars Hill.

There is no charge to attend, no reservation is required, and there are no PowerPoint presentations. This is a come-when-you-can/stay-as-long-as-you'd-like event opportunity for all tourism-related businesses to meet one-on-one with program managers to discuss better ways to promote their property or event. TRAC brings Visit North Carolina's program managers to local communities to discuss the nuts and bolts of working with the organization. This invaluable program is designed to help tourism-related businesses engage more fully with programs offered by Visit North Carolina and its partners.

Representatives from the EDPNC's BLNC, N.C. Welcome Centers/Visitor Services, N.C. State Parks, Agritourism, and NC GreenTravel are often on hand to discuss services they can provide businesses, including strategic planning, assisting with identifying funding sources and serving as liaisons with other local, state and federal agencies. For additional information on this session or to learn more about scheduling a TRAC visit to your community, contact [HYPERLINK "mailto:andre.nabors@visitnc.com"] at (919) 447-7771.

April offers the "Secret life of spring"

The April issue of Our State magazine offers the "Secret Life of Spring," with a photo essay spotlighting caretakers of the coast, plus articles on flowers, rain and other wonders of nature. "Downtown" visits Wilson; "Restaurant" features Lulu's on Main in Sylva; and "Farm Tour" highlights Carolina Farmhouse Dairy in Bahama. It also contains a special pull-out insert that serves as a brewery guide, spotlighting N.C. craft beers and breweries - perfect for April's N.C. Beer Month. The April issue is available now.

Festivals are saving energy, going greener

With spring officially here, everyone should be looking forward to enjoying many of the great festivals in North Carolina. Festivals are one of the best traditions in the tourism industry. While festivals are a wonderful way to showcase and celebrate a community's heritage, they take a lot of effort to put on successfully. There are a lot of things every event manager or team can implement to help reduce the amount of electricity needed without having to enjoy the event in the dark. One way events can start saving energy that doesn't cost any additional money is to have a plan in place to make sure lights and equipment are turned off when not needed. Using [HYPERLINK

Some festivals have taken steps to work with vendors to be more energy efficient as well by providing a maximum power draw per vendor or requiring energy efficient lighting. Some festivals are greening up their energy usage by using on-site renewable energy such as wind and solar power.
